GUIDELINES

Only City of Hopewell residents may use the Convenience Center to dispose of waste generated on property located within the city limits. Businesses and contractors are not allowed to use the center.

Fees are based on vehicle type, quantity, and classification of the debris. Customers are responsible for unloading their vehicles in designated locations. Residents bringing mixed loads (refuse and yard waste) will be charged the service fee appropriate for the vehicle.

Construction and demolition debris will be accepted provided the resident is performing the actual labor on his or her primary residence. A copy of the building permit showing the property owner as the contractor must be shown to the attendant. Debris created by contractors working for residents will not be accepted. Landlords who are physically performing maintenance and repair activities on their rental property may use the center provided they comply with all other requirements.

PROGRAMS

1. MULCH - Untreated mulch is available at no cost. The attendant will assist in loading vehicles when safety and time permit. The City of Hopewell is not responsible for damage to vehicles while loading mulch.

2. CFC/HCFC - removal - EPA air quality regulations require that the compounds commonly referred to as "freon" be removed from appliances before they are discarded. All appliances such as refrigerators, freezers, and dehumidifiers must be tagged by a licensed technician before disposal. There is a $10.00 charge for this service.

3. PROPANE GRILL TANK DISPOSAL - Obsolete propane tanks are accepted for recycling. Propane tanks with a capacity ranging between 4-40 pounds, including the 20 pound standard size usually supplied with gas grills are accepted. Older style tanks typically have a round valve knob while approved tanks have a three-sided handle with the letters "ODP" stamped on the handle and also embossed on the brass body of the valve. Propane dealers no longer refill older style tanks.

4. WHITE GOODS RECYCLING - Major household appliances such as washers, dryers, stoves, and water heaters are accepted for recycling.

MISCELLANEOUS

1. Recyclable items are removed from the waste stream and diverted to qualified recycling markets. The following recyclable materials are collected: yard waste, appliances, scrap metal, tires, "freon" gas, propane tanks, rechargeable batteries, and cell phones.

2. The Clean City Commission sponsors quarterly "Clean-Up Weeks." Most fees are waived and operating hours are extended.

3. Convenience Center hours may be extended, following periods of severe weather.

4. The center will be closed in conjunction with observed holidays and during inclement weather.
